

Margaux GaigherUluma HR

My Life Purpose is “To Teach and Tutor to TOUCH lives, significantly”. Therefore, wherever I go, whoever I meet and whichever client I work with in my business, Uluma HR, I am to touch lives to make a significant difference. This is where my passion lies.

I have over twenty three (23) years’ experience in the Human Resources (HR) and training field and have worked in a variety of industries and with clients such as Spur Steak Ranches (head office), Cellphonics, The Jupiter Drawing Room (advertising agency), Ogilvy (advertising agency) Glasshouse (multi-media agency), Sure Travel (head office) plus a number of their member agencies, The Cancer Association (CANSAs), Dragons Sports (importer of bicycles), Audiovision, South African Oil and Gas Alliance (SAOGA), Windmeul Eierboere, Imbuko Wines, Imagine Cruising, Cape Town Tourism, Inuka Fragrances, Exim International, The Joinery, etc.

I love the world of work and all the challenges, highs and lows associated with employers and employees. In the World of Work, my biggest passion is the development and education of employees – to upskill, inspire and empower so that they are exceptional employees, self-motivated, driven, engaged, energetic and passionate about what they do and how they can add value and make a significant difference for their employer and for their career.

When I see the ‘light’ goes on in someone’s eyes and they start shining like bright stars that is what makes me ‘tick’. I absolutely love people and love working with people – helping them to think differently about many things in life (yes, of course their jobs mainly, but we are not silo’s and need to first look ‘within’ before we can really live in excellence in all areas and aspects of our lives). With every client and with every job related challenge, I aim to make a difference to touch people’s lives significantly.

Loving what you do and accepting who you are is a true blessing!
